NATIONAL ASSESSMENT AND ACCREDITATION COUNCIL

Dear User,
Institution name :
SGAGOVERNMENTDEGREECOLLEGE

Your AQAR of the year (2022-2023) has been approved successfully.

The college's Annual Quality Assurance Report (AQAR) has been successfully approved, marking a significant milestone in its commitment to maintaining and enhancing academic excellence and institutional quality. This approval is a testament to the college's adherence to high standards in various aspects such as teaching, learning, research, infrastructure, and student support services. The AQAR approval process involves rigorous assessment and evaluation by accrediting bodies, ensuring that the institution meets the required criteria for quality assurance. Achieving this approval not only underscores the college's dedication to continuous improvement but also boosts its reputation and credibility.

Staff Meeting held at IQAC

The staff meeting held at IQAC focused on key agenda items related to the completion of SSAR (Self-Study Annual Report), ASAR (Annual Quality Assurance Report), and records for the academic year 2023-24. These reports and records are crucial for assessing and maintaining the quality standards of academic programs and institutional operations. Discussions during the meeting likely included progress updates, data collection methodologies, and timelines for submission to accrediting bodies or regulatory authorities. The IQAC's oversight ensures that the college adheres to established quality benchmarks, fosters continuous improvement, and enhances transparency in educational practices. This strategic focus underscores the institution's commitment to academic excellence and accountability in its operations.

New PG course Introduced

M.SC.

ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY

The college is pleased to announce the introduction of a new postgraduate course, M.Sc. in Analytical Chemistry, starting from the academic year 2024-25. This program is designed to provide students with an in-depth understanding of analytical techniques and their applications in various fields such as pharmaceuticals, environmental science, and industrial chemistry. The curriculum will cover advanced topics in instrumental analysis, chemical separation techniques, and data interpretation, equipping students with the skills necessary for a successful career in analytical chemistry.

The addition of the M.Sc. Analytical Chemistry course reflects the college's commitment to expanding its academic offerings and addressing the growing demand for specialized professionals in this field. This new program will not only enhance the educational landscape of the college but also contribute to the development of skilled professionals ready to tackle the challenges of the modern scientific and industrial sectors.

Received Indo-Global Research Excellence Award

Dr. K. Sudha, a distinguished Lecturer in Hindi at the college, has received well-deserved recognition for her scholarly contributions. Invited to attend a prestigious two-day international conference at Tribhuvan University in Kathmandu, Dr. Sudha presented a compelling research paper that not only contributed significantly to the discourse but also garnered acclaim. Her research paper was honored with the Indo-Global Research Excellence Award, underscoring its academic rigor, originality, and impact in the field of Hindi studies. This achievement not only reflects Dr. Sudha's expertise and dedication to her academic pursuits but also enhances the college's reputation as a hub for scholarly excellence and innovation. Her success serves as an inspiration to colleagues and students alike, reaffirming the importance of scholarly engagement and global academic collaboration.

Successfully Completed Ph.D

Dr. K. Sujatha, a dedicated lecturer in Zoology at the college, has achieved a significant milestone by completing her Ph.D. and being awarded the doctoral degree. Her accomplishment underscores her commitment to advancing knowledge in the field of zoology through rigorous research and scholarly inquiry. Dr. Sujatha's doctoral research represents a valuable contribution to the scientific community, addressing pertinent issues and expanding the understanding of zoological sciences. Her achievement not only enhances her professional credentials but also enriches the academic environment at the college, inspiring students and colleagues alike. Dr. Sujatha's success exemplifies the institution's commitment to academic excellence and research leadership in the field of zoology.

Lecturer, Dr.K.Sujatha felicitated by the Principal and the staff

On the occasion of Dr. K. Sujatha, Lecturer in Zoology, being awarded her doctoral degree, The Principal Dr P Chandra Sekhar and staff of the college came together to felicitate her. This recognition celebrated Dr. Sujatha's academic accomplishment and her significant contribution to the field of Zoology through her research and scholarly work. The felicitation ceremony likely included speeches commending Dr. Sujatha's dedication, perseverance, and expertise in advancing knowledge in her discipline. Such acknowledgments not only honor her individual achievement but also inspire other faculty members and students to pursue academic excellence and contribute meaningfully to their respective fields. The event underscored the college's commitment to supporting and recognizing scholarly endeavors among its faculty, fostering a culture of academic achievement and pride within the institution.

Book Chapter Publication

The Department of Physics and the Department of Computer Science have jointly made a significant contribution to the academic community by publishing a book chapter in the book titled "Emerging Trends in IoT." This collaborative effort highlights the interdisciplinary nature of modern research and underscores the synergy between physics and computer science in exploring cutting-edge technologies. The chapter delves into the latest advancements and innovative applications in the Internet of Things (IoT), providing valuable insights and perspectives that bridge theoretical principles and practical implementations.

By contributing to this publication, the departments not only demonstrate their expertise in their respective fields but also their commitment to staying at the forefront of technological innovation. This achievement enhances the institution's academic reputation and serves as an inspiration for students and researchers to engage in interdisciplinary studies and collaborative projects.

Acceptance of Research Article

Dr. A. Arjuna Apparao, Lecturer in Zoology, his research article has been accepted for publication by the prestigious Spanish science journal, Revista Electrónica de Veterinaria. This significant achievement highlights Dr. Apparao's dedication to advancing knowledge in his field and his commitment to rigorous scientific inquiry. The acceptance of his research by such a renowned journal underscores the quality and impact of his work, contributing valuable insights to the scientific community. Dr. Apparao's accomplishment not only brings honor to himself but also enhances the academic reputation of the college. This recognition serves as an inspiration to students and colleagues, demonstrating the importance of perseverance and excellence in research.

Awareness Program on Drug Free Andhra Pradesh

The Special Enforcement Bureau of the Police Department recently organized an awareness program on "Drug-Free Andhra Pradesh" at the college. This initiative aimed to educate students and the community about the dangers of drug abuse and promote a drug-free lifestyle. The program featured informative sessions, interactive workshops, and presentations by law enforcement officials and experts in substance abuse prevention. Through these activities, participants gained valuable insights into the consequences of drug addiction on individuals, families, and society at large.

Participated in Rally for Drug Free Society

The NSS unit of the college recently organized a proactive Rally for a Drug-Free Society, aiming to raise awareness and mobilize community support against substance abuse. Students, faculty, and community members came together in solidarity, marching through the streets with banners, posters, and messages advocating for a drug-free lifestyle. The rally served as a powerful public statement, highlighting the detrimental effects of drug addiction and emphasizing the importance of prevention and rehabilitation efforts. Participants engaged in spirited chants and distributed informational pamphlets to educate the public about the risks associated with drug abuse and the resources available for support. Through this initiative, the NSS unit demonstrated its commitment to social responsibility and community welfare, inspiring positive change and promoting a healthier, safer environment for everyone.

Birth Anniversary of George wittig

The Department of Chemistry recently commemorated the birth anniversary of George Wittig, a pioneering figure in organic chemistry known for his groundbreaking contributions to the field of organophosphorus chemistry and the development of the Wittig reaction. This observance highlighted Wittig's significant impact on chemical synthesis and catalysis, inspiring generations of chemists worldwide. The event included informative lectures, discussions on Wittig's scientific legacy, and demonstrations showcasing the practical applications of his discoveries. By honoring George Wittig's achievements, the Department of Chemistry not only celebrated a distinguished scientist but also fostered a deeper appreciation for innovation and excellence in chemical research among students and faculty alike.

Birth Anniversary of James Clerk Maxwell

The Department of Physics recently observed the birth anniversary of James Clerk Maxwell, a pioneering figure in the field of physics renowned for his foundational contributions to electromagnetic theory. Maxwell's theoretical insights laid the groundwork for understanding electricity, magnetism, and light as interconnected phenomena governed by fundamental equations. The observance included lectures, discussions, and presentations highlighting Maxwell's groundbreaking achievements and their enduring impact on modern physics and technology. By commemorating Maxwell's legacy, the Department of Physics not only honored a visionary scientist but also inspired students and faculty to delve deeper into the realms of electromagnetic theory and its practical applications.

Classes with ICT tools

The Department of Physics at the college has embraced modern educational practices by conducting classes using Information and Communication Technology (ICT) tools. This initiative aims to enhance the learning experience for students by integrating technology into the curriculum. Through ICT tools, such as interactive simulations, virtual laboratories, multimedia presentations, and online resources, students can engage more actively with complex physics concepts. These tools not only make learning more interactive and engaging but also facilitate better understanding and retention of theoretical and practical aspects of physics. By leveraging ICT, the department not only adapts to contemporary teaching methodologies but also prepares students for the digital age, equipping them with skills essential for future academic and professional endeavors. This progressive approach underscores the department's commitment to providing quality education and fostering a conducive learning environment that promotes innovation and academic excellence in physics education.
